Tehran isn't representative of anything whereas this city is the capital of Iran, a country with a unique history, culture & architecture. On the other hand, the lack of social spaces with the necessary qualities is strongly felt in Tehran. One of the most important communal spaces for Muslims is the mosque, a place where Muslims gather together three times a day to worship God. While the contemporary architects of Iran was unable to understand existence of the mosque and the construction of an ideal mosque are in debate. This was a prelude to start designing a mosque in one of the most important centers of Tehran, Revolution Square, a mosque that would respond to the needs of Muslims in contemporary society and also represent the history of this land. A mosque rooted in history and looking towards the future.
